

CAMP MAINE: RUSTIC FURNITURE & ACCESSORIES, 1860-1940

2006 Exhibition-related Programming

Saturday, July 15, 2005, 8:45 a.m. – 3 p.m.
History Camp: Cabin Fever!

Our 3rd annual History Camp for kids ages 8 to 12 centers on activities associated with the classic Maine camps—from building and painting miniature log cabins to tying giant-sized flies and practicing casting in a wading pool. Prior to taking their projects home for lasting memories of the day, the children display them in the Museum for the general public to see.

Saturday, July 22, 2006, 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Rangeley Region Fly Tying Demonstration

Selene Dumaine, award-winning Maine fly tyer and sole proprietor of Brook Song Angling, demonstrates fly tying in the style of the legendary Carrie Stevens. Watch as she creates her signature patterns and provides insight into the art and history of fly tying in the Rangeley region. Dumaine won the North East Fly Tying Competition at the World Fly Fishing Expo in 1998 and was dubbed "A Modern Carrie Stevens" by Fly Tyer Magazine in 2003 for her reproduction flies tied in the Rangeley Style. She has taught fly tying courses and been a registered Maine guide since 1998, specializing in the fields of Fly Fishing and Recreation.

Saturday, August 19, 2006, 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Sporting Dog Adoption Day

The Brick Store Museum is literally going to the dogs! In the spirit of all the classic hunting and sporting dogs associated with the traditional Maine camps, we're turning the spotlight on dog adoption. We're proud to be partnering with the Animal Welfare Society of West Kennebunk for this worthy cause. Come! And you might just discover your new best friend. Your own four-footed pals are also welcome. We'll be offering souvenir "family" photos shot digitally with a vintage Maine camp scene as a backdrop. Photo proceeds benefit the Museum; dog treats provided!

Saturday, September 16, 2006, 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Roy Toy Family Day

Rekindle the nostalgia of childhood with this event featuring Roy Toy, the East Machias, Maine-based toy manufacturer of traditional wooden log building sets. Roy Toy co-owner Sue Dennison will be on hand to tell of her family's toy-making tradition that originated in the 1930s and created instant classics. Then, choose from among several playsets and construct a landscape of wooden cabins, forts and farms...fun for the whole family! Products will be available for purchase and make for unforgettable gifts from the Pine Tree State.
