MUSEUM HOLDS PATCHWORK STORY TIME IN QUILTS EXHIBITION

KENNEBUNK, MAINE – With the Brick Store Museum’s ongoing Quilts exhibition as the backdrop, the museum is catering to its youngest guests with “Patchwork Story Time.” At each of three different sessions offered on Wednesdays, December 2, 9 and 16 at 10AM, children are invited to bring their favorite blanket or (quilt!) and gather in the museum’s galleries to listen to two charming storybooks, each with a quilting theme.

Afterwards, toddlers can explore the exhibition and will even have a chance to make a simple yet adorable quilt-related craft to take home. Young readers can also pick up quilt-themed storybook lists to continue their reading at home. Free and fun for caregivers and tots, the story times serve as great introductions to the museum. Adult supervision is required. “Patchwork Story Time” is made possible by the Museum’s Education Committee and a grant from the Virginia Hodgkins Somers Foundation. The exhibition itself remains on view through early 2010 and is sponsored by The Brick Store Museum’s proud business partner, Ocean Bank.
