

A Week of Wild Things

The Brick Store Museum and the Kennebunk Free Library are pairing up to proudly present, A Week of Wild Things. Inspired by the Museum's ongoing Wild Things exhibition of American folk art animals, as well as all those critters in literature at the Library, there's something for all ages!

Free Family Concert by Eve & Mare

All the way from Nashville and as heard on XM Kids Radio, we welcome Eve & Mare—among the hottest new recording artists for kids and families. The duo is a finalist for "Best New Artist" in the 2007 Children's Music Web Awards. Their songs span a variety of musical styles and touch on universal themes of nature, animals, and life's daily adventures...all couched with an uproarious sense of humor. Even grownups will find themselves singing along! This concert is offered free of charge, with donations gratefully accepted. CDs of their debut album "Daddy's Moonlight Alligator Boat Ride" will be available for purchase onsite for $15. Made possible by the King Family and the Kennebunk law offices of Shepard & Read.

Saturday, November 17th, 10AM at the Kennebunk Free Library, 112 Main Street
Free Songwriting Workshop with Eve & Mare

Hot off their performance from the evening before, Eve & Mare provide an encore by leading a free songwriting workshop geared for children ages 6 to 12. In an hour's time, they will guide the group in creating an original song from start to finish, along the way exploring rhythm, rhyme, major/minor keys, and the art of storytelling. After the session, Eve & Mare will return to Nashville to professionally produce the song and make the final recording available for all participants! Please pre-register by contacting the Library at 207.985.2173 or kfl@kennebunk.lib.me.us. Made possible by the King Family and the Kennebunk law offices of Shepard & Read.

Saturday, November 17th, 1PM - 4PM at the Brick Store Museum, 117 Main Street
Feathered Folk Art Painting Workshop

This intergenerational, hands-on program is for participants ages 7 to 107. Marvel at the variety of birds on view in the Wild Things exhibition and then try your hand at painting a wooden shorebird of your own (a sandpiper or a plover); they make great gifts for the holidays. Along the way, learn special techniques from Bob Philippe of the Maine Woodcarvers Association. Pre-registration is required by contacting the Museum at 207.985.4802 or outreach@brickstoremuseum.org. Cost is $10/person ($8 for Museum members). Made possible by a grant from The Virginia Hodgkins Somers Foundation.
